

"If we can do it,
wonderful.
If we can't do it,
let's fail in the most beautiful way."

JURGEN KLOPP

wants his players to die trying against Barcelona on Tuesday - and has told them if they fail, then: "Fail in a beautiful way."

Photo credit:
UEFA

Liverpool manager Jurgen Klopp revealed he will be without both Mohamed Salah and Roberto Firmino for the Champions League semi-final at Anfield, and was realistic during Monday's press conference.

"Look, two of the world's best strikers are not available tomorrow and we have to score four goals to go through in 90 minutes. It doesn't make life easier."

Yet he still thinks it is possible. He has vowed to shake up his side and select a fresh line-up to give Barca a real test, and he wants the fans to create that famous Anfield Europe atmosphere to scare the Spanish.

Most of all, he wants his team to not die wondering. As long as we have 11 players on the pitch, we will try, says Klopp. It is football. Anything is possible.

"Let's give it a try with all we have. That is what we have always done and we will do again."

"That's what we want to show, nothing else. We want to celebrate the Champions League campaign, either with a proper finish or another goal.

"That is the plan: just try and if we can do it wonderful and if not, then fail in the most beautiful way, if you want. With a close result, so close or whatever."

Klopp urged the passionate Liverpool fanbase to celebrate the season their side have delivered during an incredible campaign - and he wants an atmosphere which can shake even the mighty Barcelona : "It is a long season and there is at least a little chance to make it even longer.

"If not, these are the last two home games of an incredible season, and I think we should celebrate that with a good

The Liverpool manager has guided the club to its third Champions League final in five years. Once again, they will face Real Madrid.

Photo credit:
ESPN